EXPLANATORY NOTES

The records herein have been checked carefully for typographical errors.

This is a miscellaneous volume the material for which has been on hand for several years. It was thought best to compile it as has been done in this volume.

Look in the table of contents and in the index for names.

The index contains practically all of the names to be found in this volume except ~~where already~~ alphabetized. The names in the charts in Dickinson County have not been placed in the index.

The figure ², etc., after the page number denotes the number of times the name is found on that page, or the different people of that name.

The capitalization of a given name indicates that the name is the head of the family.

Through errors in paging there are to be found pages 63, 63a, 63b, 63c, 63d, 82a. On account of the paging done previously on Mitchell County, it was thought better, instead of erasing those pages, to place the digits before the existing page numbers, so that pages 98, 99, 100, are not included. With these additions and subtractions there remain 232 pages in this volume. A large part of the indexing was done before these errors were noted so it was thought best to add the extra pages in this manner rather than do the work over.

In searching one must bear in mind the different spellings of names and the possibility of error.

THE LEPPER, BRADT, WALROD or WALRATH, REEVES, TEMPLEMAN FAMILIES.

The records were sent by Mrs. Marie L. Swarner of Mason City, Iowa, from records which she compiled and which were compiled by J. H. Lepper of the same place. They have been edited, in part, by Myrtle Hardenbergh Miller of Atlantic, Iowa, compiler of this volume.

THE LEPPER FAMILY.

These records have been compiled by J. H. Lepper for his own files from various family bibles and records and through correspondence with members of the family, and are of their own knowledge. They have never been published.

JOHN LEPPER enlisted August 1780 at the age of fifteen, in Captain Harrison's Company of New York State Troops, and served two and one-half months. Reenlisted in April 1781 in Captain French's Company, Col. Marion Willets Regiment, and served nine months. Again enlisted in Captain Cannon's Company, same regiment, served fourteen months. In Battle of Johnstown October 17 81 between Col. Mebel's regiment and a force of British regulars, Tories and Indians, under Walter Butler who was slain and his force routed. He applied for a pension which was allowed Oct. 17, 1832, his residence then being Greenfield, Erie County, Pa. His military record is given in "Old Continental" published by the Iowa Sons of the American Revolution, Vol. VI, p 294, name given on page 415, 259.

Much of his life is known from interviews with his son Ira taken down at the time by John Henry Lepper.

Anna Mary Prime Lepper acted as interpreter in the court of Clinton county when her son Ira was land commissioner there. Her German bible is in the possession of her son Ira Eugene Lepper who lives at Leeds, Iowa. Ira Lepper was born in Genessee County, New York, at Stratford. His parents soon moved to Erie County, Pennsylvania. From there they went to Springfield, Pennsylvania, and from there to Iowa in 1839. They left Springfield on or about Sept. 15, 1839, arriving at Davenport, Iowa, Oct. 16, 1839, crossing the Mississippi river at Davenport one evening at sundown. When they awoke in the morning they found their old neighbors, the John Walrod family, camping beside them. The Walrod family had left the year before but had stopped to work on the canal at Ashtabula, Ohio. It will be noticed in the records that the oldest and the youngest children in the two families married.

John Lepper went to Clinton County, Iowa and built a cabin on a tract of land three miles north of DeWitt. The next summer before he had a chance to file papers for the land he died of fever and ague. He was buried on his own place. Four oak posts were placed at the corners of the grave and in 1930 three of these posts were still in place and were seen by J. H. Lepper, Scott Lambertson, and Marie L. Swarner. Also buried there were Martin P. Evans, Lyman Brown son of D. H. and P. Brown, and Betsy Evans.

From the Clinton County History published by the Western Historical Co., Chicago, Ill., in 1879, see page 543: "Grandfather Lepper, an old Revolutionary soldier, settled at an early date in the grove north of town with his wife and three sons, Jacob, Ira and John. Grandfather died in 1840.. The descendants of Ira and Jacob still live in the community. John died at an early date."

Page 546 says: "The first burial plot was located in the wood west of what is now the Kimball place, north of DeWitt, where the early settlers were buried. About 1844 or 1845 the old cemetery near the town of DeWitt was established. Both have since been abandoned and a new cemetery called Elmwood was laid out about three quarters of a mile north of DeWitt in 1869."

Page 541. "Col. Lyman Evans and family, consisting of his son-in-law D. H. Brown and wife and five sons, Norman, Lyman W., Charles, Barney, Walter, and Betsy A. who died in 1839, located at Independence Town in the spring of 1839. The Colonel's mother, widow of a Revolutionary soldier, accompanied him to this township where she resided until her death in 1848 at the age of 92. She was buried in the burial plot in the woods."

Sarah Walrath, daughter of Nicholas Walrath, married Lyman W. Evans. James P. Walrath, her brother, married Sarah Brown. Since John Lepper's children had married cousins of these two Walrath children, there would be more reason to show that John Lepper was buried with the rest in the plot in the woods. The fact that his widow lived with her son until 1863, would make it seem likely that the son would know where his father was buried. The son was seventeen years old at the time of his father's death.

IDA WHALEN ARMSTRONG

Ida Whalen Armstrong was one of the most prominent members of the Clinton, Iowa, Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was regent during the years 1898-1899, 1902-1904. She has held the office of State Regent and was elected honorary State Regent. Her interest in behalf of the local and State organizations was untiring, and her willingness to help unflinching.

Mrs. Armstrong was a native of New York, the only daughter of Hon. E. S. Whalen and Catherine Groff Whalen. She married Charles Emerson Armstrong on September 9, 1874. He took his bride to Clinton, Iowa, where they spent the remainder of their lives. Here Mr. Armstrong became an influential business man. Both he and his wife were active in church work and the social life of the city. She read extensively, traveled widely, was an art critic, a linguist, and an interesting speaker. Talented, generous, helpful, and kind, she endeared herself to all who knew her.

Death claimed Mrs. Armstrong on September 6, 1925. Her passing left a void which time can not fill. Not only her family but that wide circle of friends, centering in Clinton and extending beyond its confines wherever her years of usefulness and service took her, are richer for her having lived. The name of Ida Whalen Armstrong will ever inspire those Daughters who took the torch from her falling hands.

CLINTON COUNTY IOWA

ABBIE CADLE MAHIN

Abbie Cadle (Mrs. Frank W.) Mahin organized and was the first regent of the Clinton Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She organized the chapter with fifty charter members, the largest number of charter members in any chapter known in the Society at that time. She was regent during the years 1895-1897. At the end of 1897, she retired from active participation in chapter work when Mr. Mahin was appointed to the consular service, his first post being in Austria-Hungary, then promotion to England, and then to Holland. Mrs. Mahin was with him during this official service covering twenty-six years.

She and Mr. Mahin were both born and lived in Muscatine, Iowa, till they were married and moved to Clinton in 1881. They still retain their legal residence in Clinton. Since going to Washington in 1925, she has each year represented the Clinton Chapter as regent's alternate or delegate in the Continental Congress.

During Mrs. Mahin's residence in Europe, she had many interesting experiences, especially in Holland during the war. She attended the Court of Queen Wilhelmina many times, did Red Cross work for the Allies, and had the thrilling experience in 1916 of being on a Dutch vessel which was sunk by the Germans planting mines in the path of this steamer in the North Sea. Five stokers were killed by the explosion, but fortunately all of passengers escaped in lifeboats.

Mrs. Mahin is now first vice president of the Colonial Dames in Washington. She is also a member of the Daughters of the Barons of Runnemedede, of the National Huguenot Society, and of the Daughters of the Founders and Patriots of America.

ELLA MAY OLNEY

*(Olney genealogy
p. 216)*

None of the women leaders in Clinton has given to the city more discerning service and general thought than Mrs. A. R. Olney. Regent of Clinton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, 1913-1915.

In the year 1889 she was one of the band of women who, realizing the need of hospital service in the community, organized the Agatha, now Jane Lamb hospital board and institution. This was not accomplished without effort. She and the late Mrs. L. P. Allen, were the two foremost women in the self-appointed task of giving to the people the message of what hospitalization would do for the community.

Once the hospital was on a firm foundation and a going concern other matters engaged her attention. In the year 1918 the thought of a monument to those who gave service during the World War, was uppermost in her mind. This was to be a Clinton County Memorial, erected by all the people, and Mrs. Olney's persuasiveness and adherence to an idea brought a dormant D. A. R. fund for the same purpose, into the Clinton Memorial Treasury, and a Memorial flag staff by Leonard Ciunelle was erected on River Front Park at a cost of $20,000, in 1920. It is outstanding in its spirit of undying service told in figures of bronze. The two memorial benches of marble were presented by Clinton Chapter D. A. R. at a cost of $400.

Another of Mrs. Olney's projects was the D.A.R. cook book, a little volume whose circulation has extended into other lands and all the states of the union. The first order for 1,000 was quickly sold and of the second issue more than 700 have been distributed. A sum exceeding $1,500 has been realized.

Mrs. Olney's tenacity of purpose and adherence to an ideal is her heritage from bouyant ancestors.

ELLA MAY OLNEY

She came to Clinton as a bride, Ella May, January 10, 1872, from Belvidere, Illinois, her father John May, being of the ninth generation of one John May who settled in Roxbury, Massachusetts, in earliest Colonial days. A Lieut. John May served in the Revolutionary War.

Mrs. Olney is a member of Clinton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution in Iowa and of Clinton branch of the Society of Colonial Dames in the State of Iowa.

I Am An American

I AM an American.
My father belongs to the Sons of the Revolution;
My mother, to the Colonial Dames.
One of my ancestors pitched tea overboard in Boston Harbor;
Another stood his ground with Warren;
Another hungered with Washington in Valley Forge.
My forefathers were Americans in the making:
They spoke in her council halls;
They died on her battle-fields;
They commanded her ships;
They cleared her forests.
Dawns reddened and paled
Stanch hearts of mine beat fast at each new star
In the nation's flag.
Keen eyes of mine foresaw her greater glory:
The sweep of her seas,
The plenty of her plains,
The man-hives in her billion-wired cities.
Every drop of blood in me holds a heritage of patriotism.
I am proud of my past.
I AM AN AMERICAN.

I am an American.
My father was an atom of dust,
My mother a straw in the wind,
To his serene majesty.
One of my ancestors died in the mines of Siberia;
Another was crippled for life by twenty blows of the knut;
Another was killed defending his home during the massacres.
The history of my ancestors is a trail of blood
To the palace-gate of the Great White Czar.
But then the dream came—
The dream of America.
In the light of the Liberty torch
The atom of dust became a man
And the straw in the wind became a woman
For the first time.
"See," said my father, pointing to the flag that fluttered near,
"That flag of stars and stripes is yours";
It is the emblem of the promised land.
It means, my son, the hope of humanity.
Live for it—die for it!"
Under the open sky of my new country I swore to do so;
And every drop of blood in me will keep that vow.
I am proud of my future.
I AM AN AMERICAN.

BENJAMIN W. STEUBEN

FLOYD COUNTY

We are interested in stories from the early history of our country. The following tells of a namesake of General Steuben, a Prussian officer, who came from France with LaFayette to aid the American colonies in their struggle for independence. After Benedict Arnold's treason to his country Baron Steuben never failed to manifest his indignation and abhorrence of his name and character. While Steuben was inspecting Colonel Sheldon's regiment of light horse, the name of Arnold struck his ear. The soldier was ordered to the front. He was a fine looking fellow with horse and equipment in excellent order.

"Change your name, brother soldier", said General Steuben. "You are too respectable to bear the name of a traitor." "What name shall I take, General?" the young soldier asked. "Take any other name, mine is at your service." The offer was cheerfully accepted and his name became Jonathan Steuben by act of the Connecticut legislature.

After the close of the war Baron Steuben was given a large tract of land in New York State by the United States government as a token of gratitude for his services, and a little town nearby was named Steuben for him.

Later, Baron Steuben invited Jonathan Steuben to leave his home in Connecticut and move to New York. The young man told the Baron: "I am well settled, general, and have a wife and son. I have called my son after you, sir." "I thank you, my friend", replied the baron, "what name have you given the boy?" "I have called him Baron- what else could I call him?" Frederick William Augustus Baron Steuben was the name.

Other children were born to the family. The two youngest boys were named for the aides of the baron, Benjamin Walker and William North, the boys' names being Benjamin Walker Steuben and William North Steuben. A few years prior to the Civil war, Benjamin W. Steuben with his wife and sons left New York and settled on government land in Ogle County, Illinois. Three of those sons enlisted in the Union army.

The descendants of Benjamin Walker Steuben may be found in Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, and California. Several of his granddaughters are members of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

JONES COUNTY IOWA

MARK A. MORSE

The subject of this sketch is in his 93d year- but the years have been kind to Mark A. Morse, Commander of the only G.A.R. Post in Jones county, a man who finds so much joy in living that he says, "I can hardly wait until tomorrow comes."

When a lad of eleven years he came to Iowa with his parents, John and Phoebe Flint Morse, from Bradford, New Hampshire. There were no railroads west of the Mississippi at that time nor a bridge on which to cross the river. This Puritan family made the trip across on an old flat-bottomed boat August 22, 1854. Soon after their arrival in Jones county, Mr. Morse purchased 160 acres of land five miles east of the present site of Wyoming for which he paid $1.55 per acre. Every acre had to be grubbed with the only instruments available for that work, an ax, a spade and a mattock. The grubbing of the first ten acres represented an expenditure of $10, paid with a single gold coin of that denomination.

A house, 16 by 24 feet, was built with lumber hauled from Davenport, and a straw covered shed gave protection at night for the cattle that roamed through the timber during the day. Going for the cows was a part of Mark's work, and he recalls seeing as many as six wolves on a single trip through the timber. This farm has since been operated by four generations of the Morse family.

Mark learned his A B C's in a New Hampshire school and his education was continued here in a crudely built log cabin structure, 18 feet square. Slab benches supported by wooden pegs served as seats. None of the comforts or teaching aids which feature modern schools were known to those who provided educational facilities for the pioneer's children.

When the Civil War broke out and Lincoln called for volunteers, Mark, then 20 years old, enlisted at Maquoketa, August 13, 1862, serving in the 1st Iowa Infantry until discharged at Louisville, Kentucky, on July 27, 1865. He was in many battles from Lookout Mountain to Atlanta, never injured, but for ten days he lay on the ground floor of an old cotton mill seriously ill of a fever. "It was the prayers of my devout mother said faithfully every night, that brought me home," he says.

Mr. Morse was married January 25, 1867, to Miss Margaret Eliza Willis and for more than sixty years they enjoyed life together, making but one move from the farm to Wyoming. He still maintains that home, living alone since the death of his wife except during the winter months when he stays with his son William and family.

Scientists today are suggesting that we each foster a hobby of some kind. Perhaps it is Mr. Morse's hobby for antiques that keeps him young. At any rate his home is most interesting. There are tintypes, family pictures, and albums; a hide-covered trunk used by his mother when she was a girl; a carpenter square bearing the date 1801 and many articles that have been in the Morse family for many generations. He has approximately 100 badges received at G.A.R. encampments, for he has attended practically every encampment, national, state and district from Maine to California, and served several times as aide-de-camp on the national commander's staff. On his bed is a quilt made of flags, set together by his mother in her 90th year; nearby a "Horn Chair." The fourteen horns used in the construction of this chair were brought to the United States from Asia, the seat and headrest are of brown leather, and the chair was once the prized possession of a North Dakota rancher at whose home President Theodore Roosevelt visited. If you were to visit Mr. Morse in his home with its cement gate posts surmounted by cannon balls, sheared Norway spruce trees, and in summer surrounded by an abundance of old fashioned flowers, I am sure the old soldier would show you the lights of four centuries- the tiny iron container for oil or grease from which a piece of hemp, a string or rag extended which, when lighted, gave out a feeble ray of light in the 16th century; the candle mold, the candles and snuffer of the 17th century; the kerosene lamp purchased when oil was 80¢ per gallon; and the electric light of the 19th and 20th centuries. He, too, has a rare old steel etching which he discovered a few years ago in the deserted New Hampshire school house of his boyhood days, a picture which prompts many good stories of that state.

Tourists passing through the main street of Wyoming today frequently pause, attracted by relics arranged in the two large show windows of the Soldier's Memorial Hall. These relics, too, are the property of Mr. Morse. The big ear of Iowa corn that he has carried to G.A.R. encampments from coast to coast hung from his neck on a red, white and blue ribbon, occupies a conspicuous place. There is a cartridge box carried in the War of 1812; a 200 year old flint lock gun made in Egypt and found in a trapper's camp in the Colorado mountains; a collection of approximately 500 Indian arrow heads, no two alike; a bear trap 200 years old used by his ancestors. He has a standing offer of a sack of peanuts to anyone under sixteen years of age who can set the trap. He treasures many Civil War relics- a drum, a cannon ball brought from the Vicksburg battle field, and many other articles that combine to make a valuable collection of antiques.

But the fact that this old soldier is interested in antiques doesn't prevent his keeping in touch with the modern trends of civilization today. In talking with him recently, he said, "If I would go about in a reminiscent mood- a 'how dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood' mood- I wouldn't get very far today. True, I don't forget the good old days, the lyceums, the hunting parties, the singing schools, raising bees and spelling matches. But we have outgrown those good times along with the oxen teams and breaking plows, the cradle and the scythe. Even the horse has almost been side-tracked. We are living in the automobile, airplane age- a wonderful inventive age, and I like it."

Through the efforts of Mr. Morse, Wyoming has one of the condemned American breech loading machine guns used in the World War. He presented Wyoming Post, No. 259, American Legion, with its gavel; and gave to the Woman's Relief Corps, No. 4, a bronze plaque of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address that now hangs in the Wyoming public school.

This ever active, widely traveled, civic-minded and highly respected citizen of Wyoming, Iowa, has a talent for friendship. He exemplifies a philosophy of life that is needed today- a belief in the ultimate rewards of honest effort, and a confidence in the essential integrity of man. Great world events and the small happenings of his own little town are viewed by him through eyes that seek the best things in life.

JOHN RUSSELL
1821-1908

The subject of this sketch, John Russell, was not one of the earliest pioneers in Jones county, as he did not come here until 1852, when he bought 200 acres of land from the government. This farm continued to be his home for 56 years or until his death, October 10, 1908. But his political activity and the confidence displayed by his fellow citizens in his judgment and ability by repeatedly electing him to high positions of public trust, make him an outstanding character in the early history of Jones county.

Mr. Russell was born October 8, 1821 in Fife-shire, Scotland, of staunch Scotch Presbyterian ancestry. His life proved true to its inheritance as he was commonly known as "Honest John." This high integrity was accompanied by a pleasing modesty and a warm friendliness that won him many lasting friends. The home, he with his much beloved wife, Margaret and family, made on Russell farm was famous for its hospitality. Here the table was always set long and the latch string always out. In the great window looking toward the gate, "Honest John" sat hours at a time and read and thought long about the problems of the day, for he was more of a philosopher than farmer. In politics, he was whole heartedly a Republican, and the Des Moines Register was his daily food. One room in his home contained every copy of this paper from the first edition to the year of Mr. Russell's passing, carefully filed.

John Russell was a member of the first board of Jones county Supervisors in 1861. The same year he was elected a member of the State Legislature and served four consecutive terms, being Speaker of the House in 1868.

In 1870 he was elected State Auditor and re-elected in 1872. This long period of public service was followed by five quiet years on the farm. Then he was elected State Senator of Jones and Cedar counties, serving from 1884 to 1888.

Mr. Russell introduced the bill providing for the establishment of Iowa State College at Ames and was influential in locating the state penitentiary in Anamosa (1872).

GEORGE H. WALWORTH

West of Anamosa, about a mile, there still remains a picturesque old saw and grist mill fairly well preserved. Located on the Buffalo fork, it was early an important asset to the Jones county pioneers who, previous to its establishment, had to travel to Dubuque to mill.

George H. Walworth was the enterprising builder and owner in the year 1838. It was later enlarged and operated by Fisher Brothers.

George Walworth and Daniel Varvel in 1853 platted Monticello into town lots and laid out the streets.

He was the first representative from Jones and adjoining counties in the Territorial Legislature at Iowa City, and served for a considerable period of time.

He is described by a contemporary as being a man of fine appearance and address, public spirited with a rare gift of adaptability. He never married, a sister keeping house for him.

JONES COUNTY IOWA

DR. J. A. WHITE

Dr. J. A. White, pioneer physician of Jones county, located at Olin on February 22, 1871, twenty-two days after he was graduated from Rush Medical College in Chicago. He opened his office in the little village we know as Olin, called Rome at that time. This Embryo town included a grist mill, a general store, three saloons and a half dozen dwellings. There was not a foot of sidewalk anywhere, and the greater portion of the land that has since been sold at good prices for building purposes was then an oats field. There was no railroad, and all supplies came by stagecoach from Davenport.

Dr. White practiced medicine in that locality for over half a century, during which time he never refused to make a call. The night was never too cold or too stormy for him to venture out on horseback or with a team to relieve the suffering of some child or to attend a sick mother. He had scars on his face from the frost bites he received. It is said his presence at the bedside of the sick and suffering was often more potent for good than his powders and potions.

Before drainage converted the swamp land along the Wapsipinicon river into valuable corn ground, malaria was one of the worst diseases the pioneer doctor had to combat. Sometimes he would drive for miles and miles and stop at every house along the road to see a malaria patient. Quinine then sold at $9 an ounce, all drugs were expensive and money was scarce. In speaking of those times the doctor told of making calls that he never booked "because he hated to look over so many bad accounts". "Anyway," he chuckled, "I never knew a 'dead beat' to get sick. It was always his wife or his children, and I couldn't refuse to go to them."

Dr. White saw four years of service in the Civil War, a member of Company E, 11th Iowa Infantry.

He marched with Sherman to the Sea and on to Washington. On this march that lasted sixty days, they started with but sufficient food to last twelve days. The remainder of the time they lived as best they could. Sometimes potatoes served as the one and only food; or they would have nothing but meat to eat, and again when no food had been secured they just had to forget it was meal time.

In the battle of Shiloh in which he took part, the doctor said that the average age of the 110,000 men wearing the blue and the grey was twenty-one years and under.

Dr. White's first vote was cast in 1860 for Abraham Lincoln. He was a member of the Don A. Carpenter Post, G.A.R. during the existence of that organization in Jones county, and the company's flag, a cutlass that was taken from Old Ironsides, a photograph of the man for whom the Post was named, and one of the doctor, has been encased in a sealed cabinet and presented to the Olin public school.

In 1919 Dr. White was doorkeeper of the United States House of Representatives at Washington, and later he served in the same capacity in the State House of Representatives at Des Moines.

During a trip through the eastern states shortly after he retired from active practice he visited many historic spots and the graves of several notables of the Revolutionary period. He loved to tell of his various experiences in life with mention of his sight-seeing events, and his keen memory and racy, genial humor assured him appreciative listeners.

On a protected corner near Olin's Main street stands an American Elm, a small tree that grew from a seedling from his own yard that he presented as a tribute and remembrance to the Veterans of the World War. In years to come, the heroes of the late war will pause under the shade of this living monument to bow their heads in grateful remembrance of his kindly deeds, and their children will view the stately elm and remember the story of the gift tree.

Dr. White died February 24, 1932, at Olin.

TAMA COUNTY IOWA

EARLY HISTORY OF METHODIST EPISCOPAL

CHURCH OF TAMA, IOWA, WITH LIST OF MEMBERS AND

BAPTISMS

1853----1885

To get the proper setting for our story of the early Methodist Episcopal Church in Tama, let us go back to the beginning, when a few men came from Jackson County, Indiana, to this locality in the Fall of 1849, to select a location for their future homes. These men returned to Indiana the same season to make the necessary preparations to bring their families to the New Land of Promise. During the Summer of 1850, they formed a small company and came by teams, arriving about the 25th of October of that year, although it seems they did not stay continuously, but returned to Indiana for that Winter, coming back again in the spring.

The settlements of 1851 seemed to be more permanent, and we find that the families of Hollen, Vermilya, Redman, Brannen, Blodgett and Umbarger stayed on. These pioneers must have been men of push and energy, and gladly braved the hardships of the new country, that they might make homes for their families.

To fully realize what the earliest settlers had to contend with, we should make a visit to our cemetery, to the beautiful hill top, where we find the last resting place of fifteen of this early group, who could not withstand the privations incident to a new country.

In the Fall of 1853, Rev. David H. Petefish was sent by the Iowa Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, to form a new Circuit comprising Tama County.

The first sessions of the Methodist Episcopal

TAMA COUNTY IOWA

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Church, in Tama, were held in a frame school-house, Rev. D. M. Mallory being the first preacher. A Chapel building was erected in 1865 on lots donated by W. P. Brown, in what was then the North West part of town, this being the first church of any denomination built here. The exact location was on the lot across the street North of the Geo. Austin home, and now owned by Frank Dulybon.

This building was completed and dedicated in the Fall of 1866, Dr. A. J. Kynett of Philadelphia officiating, assisted by James Todd, the pastor of the church.

In looking over the earliest church records, the old custom of Class Meeting has been brought back to our memory. There seems to be nothing in the modern church service that quite takes the place of the old fashioned Class Meeting, where those in attendance seemed to have such a real feeling of comradeship. The first Class Leaders recorded were in 1866, and were Frederic Homan, and Milton Griest: then followed M. A. Newcomb, W. T. Hollen, C. W. Sexmith, Edwin Goodell, H. M. Pennell, N. McClung, Maggie Ingersol and Lucretia Warner.

TAMA COUNTY IOWA

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

During the early years of the Methodist chapel, it was used for all kinds of moral entertainment, and the proceeds therefrom amounted to $4000. In 1874 the chapel was moved to a more central location, to a vacant lot south of present church, but it was soon found necessary to build a larger and more suitable church. The present brick building was built in 1883. In the record book of the Secretary of the Board of Trustees, under date of Jan. 22, 1883, we find the meeting was called to order by the Pastor, Rev. S. A. Lee, and the following officers were elected for the year: Pres. J. W. Coburn; Vice-Pres. B. A. Hall; Sec. E. G. Penrose; Treas. H. Day; and James Brice voting member. By motion of H. Day, seconded by E. G. Penrose, it was decided to erect a new church, and J. W. Coburn, Albert Fife and Rev. S. A. Lee were appointed a committee to investigate and report on plans and specifications, and a suitable site. On Feb. 22, 1883, it was agreed to purchase of Mr. Albrecht, the lot where the church now stands for $560.00 and build the new church thereon, according to plans from the Church Extension. E. G. Penrose, W. H. Albrecht and B. A. Hall were appointed a building committee. The old church building was sold for $800.00 to the Christian Church. The new church was dedicated Dec. 9, 1883 with appropriate exercises. The total cost of church and fixtures amounted to over $9000.00

The work of the church and its various organizations does not seem to vary much as the years go by. We find announcement in the Tama Herald of October 29, 1886, which reads as follows:- The Young Ladies Guild of the Methodist Episcopal Church will give a fancy dress party at the rink next Tuesday evening, November 2nd. The young ladies will represent different historical, medieval and legendary characters. A good supper will be served from 5:30, and a royal good time is anticipated. Admission 10 cents, supper 20 cents. At the door, each lady and gentleman will be given numbers, and those holding corresponding numbers, will be expected to take supper together. An interesting program is being prepared, and all who attend may anticipate an enjoyable occasion. The next week gives the story of this successful party in the following:- The attendance at the fancy dress party at the rink Tuesday evening, was simply immense. The supper was one of the best ever spread before Tama guests. Haughty Queen Mary promenaded with Topsy. Little Red Riding Hood, The Three Little Maids from School, The Goddess of Liberty, and The Little Old Woman who Lived in the Shoe, took a stroll with the Little Dude of the 18th Century. Among those on the program, we notice a vocal duet by Flora and Ella Wonser, a guitar duet by Charles and Percy Swearingen, etc.

The Tama Herald of November 12, 1886 made this announcement:- The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will give a parlor concert at the residence of F. J. M. Wonser next Wednesday evening, November 17th. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. The following issue reports:- The proceeds from the parlor concert given by the Methodist ladies at the residence of F. J. M. Wonser Wednesday evening, amounted to about $5.00.

One form of social activity seems to have gone entirely out of date, that of the oft recurring "pound party" at the parsonage. These affairs were always a surprise to the minister and his family, and it was the righteous duty of the host and hostess to act the part of thankful recipients, no matter what the gift might be. Under date of December 17, 1886, there was given one of these numerous "pound parties", and the story runs as follows: The Methodist parsonage was taken by storm Friday evening by a large number of the friends of Rev. Swearingen and family. It was an old fashioned "pound party", and the guests came laden with gifts, which while of no great intrinsic value, were priceless to the Elder and his household, reflecting as they did, the high regard in which they are held by the community. The evening was pleasantly passed with music and social conversation, and the company dispersed at an early hour. The Elder returns thanks, and says "come again."

For almost seventy years, this church has occupied a prominent place in the moral and religious progress of Tama, and has steadily grown in numbers until now the membership reaches 425.

Could the walls of this old church but speak, they would give expression to many a hallowed association.

ST. MARY'S CATHOLIC CHURCH

OTTUMWA, IOWA

The site upon which the new St. Mary's Catholic Church is located was in earliest times a part of an Indian cornfield. For a long time Chief geokuk, leader of the gac and Fox tribes, had his village on the site of the present city of Ottumwa. The Indian cabins were located back from the Des Moines river a short distance, while to the rear of these huts, on a rising slope, the Indians cultivated maize.

The lot at the corner of Court and Fourth street on which the church stands is No. 90, block 3 of the original plat of the "town of Louisville". This was the name given to the city originally by the Appanoose Rapids Company, which laid it out. Lot 90 and 89 were entered according to the records, on September 9, 1845. On January 1, 1847, a patent to this land and much more was issued by President polk to John C. Evans and James B. Wright, county commissioners of Wapello county. It was not until fifth-eight years later that the patent was placed on file here, June 17, 1905. The first owner of the lot 90 was Charles Overman, on July 9, 1849. In the same year the lot was acquired by Dr. C. C. Warden who transferred it to Bishop Mathias Loras in the next few months. Upon the death of Loras the lot was willed to Bishop Clement Smith, 1858. On Novemebr 28, 1914, the lot was transferred to St. Mary's church by Bishop Davis.

Lot No. 89 which adjoins Lot 90 to the east was bought from the county commissioners by David Glass. He was a pioneer settler of Center township. His marriage to Eliza Jane Hall on June 19, 1844 was one of the earliest in the county. On May 1, 1845 Mary Hale secured title to the lot and it was later conveyed to her heirs - John Myers, Elizabeth (Lib) Hale and John Hale - to John L. Taylor, 1855. In 1857 it was sold to Alfred Lotzepeich. In 1864 it was conveyed to E. F. Coday, in 1865 to Father John Kreckel. It was sold to St. Mary's church in 1926 by the Sisters of the Humility of Mary.

Copied from a newspaper article sent to Myrtle gardenbergh Miller.

The newspaper article is found in detail in the other copy of this volume. Also in the Ottumwa Courier of December 24, 1930.
